THE OLD WISCONSIN IRONSIDES

Governor Jeremiah Rusk, that fine old Wisconsin Ironside, seems to be considered a big chief at Washington, which town he is at present attending. Mr. Rusk is said to be a candidate for the presidency. Possibly he is. Any way, 'tis a dear old hustler. —New York Sun.

There is no other governor, than Jerry Rusk, in the United States who could go to Washington and create the interest and enthusiasm that he is doing at the national capital. During the six years to be in congress he gained the reputation of being one of the very best members in the house—not an orator of flashy ideas, and of more mind than brains—but a man of strong common sense, of a practical turn of mind, and of wide personal influence. He could do as much successful work as any other man in congress. In fact he was always a success. He was always on the right side of every great question, and he was clear headed enough to do his duty faithfully and efficiently.

Take his reception in Washington, and see what it means. The New York World, a democratic paper, says that Governor Rusk was treated to a reception in the senate chamber such as few visitors receive, and it announces that "the Wisconsin delegation will be instructed to present his name to the Chicago convention." Thus a dispatch from Washington says, "the Wisconsin people at the capital and Gov. Rusk's friends generally, will give him a reception in the red parlor of the Ebbett house Saturday evening at 8.30. The governor was persuaded to prolong his visit and give his friends a chance to pay their respects. He was decidedly averse to allowing any fuss to be made over him, but the entire Wisconsin delegation yesterday went to him and insisted that he give his consent to the reception and he had to say yes."

Speaking of Governor Rusk's name being presented to the national convention, the Milwaukee Sentinel says, "if the Wisconsin delegation finds an emergency which Governor Rusk is needed to meet, there will be no divided opinion about pushing him forward. If such an event should occur and it should culminate in his nomination, the republicans of the country could make a heavy campaign for his election." And then the same paper makes a remark, the truth of which every observing man will see, that there will be a good many men mentioned for the presidency who haven't the strength of character of that fine old Wisconsin Ironside.

It is an honor to Wisconsin that it has a man for governor whose reputation for honesty, firmness, integrity and wise judgment, is as wide as the Union. Such a man is a very fitting one to be brought before the national convention as a republican candidate for the presidency.

"A REFORM" CAMPAIGN.

The other day the Gazette printed an opinion from a democratic paper in New Orleans relative to the chances of the democrats to carry the election in that state. The opinion, in substance, was that it was no use for the republicans to trouble themselves in regard to the election in Louisiana, as the democrats had every arrangement made to get a majority of the votes; and further that the colored republicans must keep their hands off or trouble would be the result.

Now comes another chapter on the methods employed in Louisiana to make that state democratic. It will be remembered that there was a bitter contest between Governor McRae and ex-Governor Nicholls, for the nomination for governor a few weeks ago. The New Orleans Picayune, the organ of Nicholls, in reviewing the situation, makes this statement: "The governor of this state controls the election machinery in every parish within its limits, and in case of necessity can easily manufacture a majority."

This is the spirit of the democratic campaign in that state. If a free election is held in Louisiana, and honest returns rendered, the republican candidate would be elected without doubt. That democratic managers know this full well, and therefore will manufacture a majority if it should be needed.

The Picayune is a pretty good authority on what the democrats do if necessary; but the Times-Democrat, of New Orleans, a strong democratic paper, makes this humiliating confession: "The fact should not be disguised that the ring has in its employ some of the most skilled ballot-box stuffers in the country and there are not a few good people so impressed with the skill of these men as to believe that nothing can prevail against their fraud."

This is the condition of things in all southern states, and reflects the purposes, spirit and aim of the national administration.

Twenty-five or thirty years ago the present general superintendent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railway, as is generally known, was a section-man on a salary of $1.00 a day or less. He did not climb to his present position by organizing or joining strikes. His career affords a lesson that many other working men are slow to learn. —Chicago Tribune.

The men who strike or order strikes, are not the men who learn wisdom by experience. They teach men to throw up their position at the dictation of bosses, and thereby subject themselves to humiliation and defeat. Men who do these things are not the men who climb to position of honor and trust.

It is not likely that any of the judges of the Kentucky supreme court will be appointed or not. The appointment of Lamar makes any appointment, however low, quite possible.

There is a democratic paper down in Indiana, called the Public Press, published at New Albany, which makes seven political predictions as follows: That Cleveland will be nominated by democratic wire workers and manipulators and beaten by the people at the polls.

That a western republican will be nominated and elected president of the United States.

That every democratic federal office holder in the country, good and bad, will be turned out within less than three months after the 4th of March, 1892.

That then, and not till then, will Cleveland and his mugwump followers realize to the fullest extent that "to the victors belong the spoils."

That the lesson, though a dear one, will be worth all it costs the democratic party.

That no democrat can be found in the campaign of 1892, even with a search warrant, who will acknowledge he was over a mugwump.

That the school of experience teaches a dear lesson, but fools will learn no other.

Our Congressman Guenther has let the gubernatorial question rest long enough to remark that he thinks that on the tariff issue the republicans can carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana, Virginia and West Virginia, next fall. Mr. Guenther seems to have good judgment on the tariff question.

If the republicans do not elect the next president, it will not be because they haven't the right kind of presidential timber or the vote. It will be on account of a blunder.

It is said that Senator Ingalls has the smallest foot of any man in the senate, and yet the democrats will even testify that he kicks the hardest of any man in that body.

RAINS CAUSE RUIN.

Appalling Damage by Floods in Europe.

LOSSES IN GERMANY OF $50,000,000.

Seventy-seven villages submerged—Thirty thousand homeless people in England, France, Spain and China—Southern States visited.

Disastrous floods. Berlin, March 29.—Reports from the flooded districts along the Vistula say that within an area of ten miles square seventy-seven villages are submerged.

The Emperor receives daily reports concerning floods. The damage is estimated at $50,000,000. The towns of Bitterburg, Dornitz and Damsdorf are still flooded. Twenty-nine villages have been lost, and 10,000 head of cattle have perished. The weather is mild.

The inundation in the vicinity of Cassel is increasing. The floods along the Weser extend over a vast territory. The Pader, Eder, Schwalm and Lahn rivers have also overflowed their banks.

Thirty thousand persons have been made homeless by the floods in the valley of the Vistula.

London, March 29.—The flood details from Germany are appalling. The Ebro, Tago, Guadiana and other rivers have covered 100 square miles of territory. Forty villages and hamlets have disappeared, and miles of railway are practically at the bottom of the now lakes. Eight thousand persons are homeless and ruined in circumstances. Much of the area can never be reclaimed again, and even where the mud has been washed away, the soil is so infertile that thousands of acres of farm land still submerged. Along the Elbe the ice carried away bridges, dykes and embankments, and even overtopping these the crushed houses as if they were eggshells. Cattle were drowned, persons were unable to escape the suddenness and violence of the flood. No one on the river, but the melting snow from high elevations added a new supply of melting water.

A whole district called Dordog in Northern Hungary is also inundated. The rivers have destroyed all the dikes and swept away twenty villages. The floods from the Danube have surrounded the town of Fuchberg, where numerous houses have fallen in. Fifty villages in that district have been converted into heaps of ruins, and thousands of the inhabitants are left without shelter or food.

The losses of property and lives it is at present impossible to estimate, but they reach large proportions. To the Vistula and the Lahn thousands of emigrants have been dispatched to rescue the inhabitants of towns and villages which are still in danger. Fourteen soldiers were killed while endeavoring to remove an ice blockade by blasting.

IN ENGLAND, FRANCE AND SPAIN. London, March 29.—There has been a renewal of the snow-storm in the north of England.

Heavy snow-storms also prevail in the north of France. There has been a heavy fall of snow in Dublin. The weather is colder than it has been in many years.

Disastrous storms are reported in Spain. Much damage has been done to property.

Paris, March 29.—A storm of unprecedented violence is raging at present and much damage has been done.

THE YELLOW RIVER FLOODS. London, March 29.—Latest advices from China say that the crisis in Ho-Nan is passed, but that the distress of the people is appalling. 2,000,000 persons being utterly destitute of food. Two children living on a piece of bread and starving refugees from the flooded districts, who, like swarms of locusts, are devouring every thing.

A KENTUCKY DUEL.

How They Handled Fire-Arms in the Days That Tried Men.

Victor Duquesne, the famous pistol shot of New Orleans, while traveling in Kentucky stopped for the night at a tavern in Frankfort, says the New York World. In his days of pistol, like Kentucky going to take a dinner at the residence of Governor McRae, he carried his twin derringers. After supper Duquesne went to the office corner, behind which the proprietor lounged, and putting down a half-dollar, requested him to clean up his gun. The proprietor, who was into his money drawer in a mechanical way, and taking out two "bits," or twelve and a half-cent pieces, showed them towards Duquesne. The latter, seeing that the proprietor made no more towards giving him any more money, said: "I gave you half a dollar, here are only two 'bits.'"

"You give me a quarter, sir," responded the proprietor.

"Bey your pardon, you are mistaken. Look in your drawer and you will see."

"Do you mean to say I don't know a half-dollar when I see it? I say, sir, you give me a quarter and you've got your change for it."

Duquesne looked steadily at the tavern-keeper for a moment. The guests seated around the fire-place became silent.

"You run town," said Duquesne in a low, even tone. Those terrible words meant something in Kentucky, and the speaker knew it. He felt nervously for his pistols. They were missing. He had left them in his room.

"Where are your pistols as quick as if he had been charged by an electric battery. He jerked open his money-drawer, took from it a pistol, cocked it and covered Duquesne, who stood motionless.

"Would you shoot an unarmed man?" inquired the latter, calmly.

"That appeal is never without its effect in the Old Commonwealth."

"An unarmed man has no right to give an insult."

"Will some gentlemen lend me a pistol?" said Duquesne, without removing his eyes from his antagonist, whose two brothers had now ranged themselves by his side.

"If you play the world over," spoke up a taver-keeper, putting a pistol in Duquesne's hand, while two more were dropped into his overcoat pocket. The men fired simultaneously.

Quicker than the flash of lightning Duquesne fired and his antagonist's right arm dropped to his side, broken.

"Any more?" inquired Duquesne, preparing another round.

"Yes, confound you!" exclaimed the third brother, firing one shot wildly and endeavoring to shoot again. Duquesne fired quickly again, and that brother's arm fell broken, just as the others had fallen.

"Who the devil are you?" cried the landlord, grasping his disabled arm.

"I am Victor Duquesne, of New Orleans."

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Duquesne; I'm satisfied it was a half-dollar you gave me. Give Mr. Duquesne two 'bits' more out of the drawer, Sam," said the taver-keeper to a white-faced clerk who had cringed behind the counter during the fusillade.

"Next time I want to shoot I'll look at the register and see who it is that's going to shoot back."

JAY IS JUBILANT.

The Wall Street Magazine Evidently Satisfied with the Favorable Result of His Recent Statement—Latest Regarding the Controversy.

New York, March 29.—Jay Gould opened an intermittent fire from his masked battery yesterday, just enough to show that he had not retired from the field after putting out his skulking line.

He was in better spirits than ever, and played his business with a zest indicative of strong vitality and satisfaction in what he was doing. This satisfaction came in a great degree from the result of Mr. Gould's gunning of the last few days. Indications were coming in that somebody had been hit, and pretty soon it was this which Mr. Gould would say:

"It would seem that the time is rapidly approaching when the Legislature inquiry of which I have spoken should be taken up. It would be well for the people of this city to have a little light thrown upon political affairs here. The people of the State would enjoy it, and would the whole country. It might be well to see how far we are controlled here by a single shrewd politician."

"It would seem that the time is rapidly approaching when the Legislature inquiry of which I have spoken should be taken up. It would be well for the people of this city to have a little light thrown upon political affairs here. The people of the State would enjoy it, and would the whole country. It might be well to see how far we are controlled here by a single shrewd politician."

Mr. Andrews made a formal statement yesterday as to the questions made by Governor Gould in relation to Mr. Andrews. Mr. Andrews asserted that George Gould's statements in many respects contained pure fabrications. Mr. Andrews explained the matter of $500,000 spoken of by George Gould, that that amount was about what the trust bonds were worth. There was no attempt to blackmail. Mr. Andrews reiterated his former statement that Gould said he supposed he could pay District-Attorney Fellows something, but Mr. Andrews told him at the time that restitution would be deemed satisfactory to the public officers and they would not press the personal punishment. Andrews also repeated his former story that Gould had offered $50,000 if he would not press the personal punishment. Jay Gould was asked what he had to say to Mr. Andrews' statement. Mr. Gould denied Mr. Andrews' statement, and said he (Andrews) was all there was to the present prosecution. Mr. Gould stated further that the $50,000 had been contributed with the present act, and was a demand made by Mr. Andrews in relation to some other case in which he (Andrews) had no interest.

These statements from both sides of the case were the only new points in the matter yesterday. District-Attorney Fellows, however, said last evening that he had some reported interviews with Secretary Whitney as to the prosecution of the Gould case, and added:

"It is proper, therefore, that I should say that Mr. Whitney has not spoken to me, directly or indirectly, in reference to the complaint of the Kansas Trustee bondholders. Neither has he in any way whatever, had any thing to do in this case. Certainly not as far as I am concerned. In relation to the statement of Mr. Andrews that Gould had said: 'Well, I suppose I could pay Fellows something,' no offer was ever made to me as compensation or payment in any way whatsoever."

THE BOULANGER MUDDLE.

France's Deposed General on the Top Wave of Popularity.

Paris, March 29.—The French press generally denounces the wisdom of General Boulanger's dismissal. He is now more popular than ever, and is the foremost candidate for political power in the country. Relieved of his military obligations he has gone to the Chamber of Deputies and has been elected.

The Boulanger Electoral Committee is discussing its plans for future action. It will possibly withdraw the General's name as a candidate for the Chamber of Deputies in the second ballot in the department of Alsace, where there was no election last Sunday, in favor of M. Doumer.

The Boulangerist press says that General Boulanger's punishment is excessive and that the Ministry has entered in a struggle in which it is not likely to win.

THE BLUE AND THE GRAY UNITED.

New York, March 29.—A new organization has been started in this city. The title is "The Independent Army and Navy Veterans' Association." Union and Confederate veterans are equally acceptable in fact, the aim of the society, as declared in the constitution, is to promote reconciliation and maintain true allegiance to the United States.

The first meeting of the association was held at the Grand Central Hotel, and was attended by a large number of veterans. The association will be organized on the 1st of April.

NO CHANGE IN THE PRICE OF COAL.

Parsons, Pa., March 29.—The anthracite coal managers, representing all the mining and transporting interests of the Schuylkill, Lehigh Valley and Wyoming regions, at a meeting Tuesday decided unanimously to maintain the present price during the season of 1888, and to keep down the cut-pit so as to prevent over-production.

STILL DENOUNCING BARTIE.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 29.—The Board of Trade Wednesday denounced W. G. Bartie's statement to the House Committee on Agriculture to the effect that Jacob Dolph Cox used another's horse in their packing business as absolutely false, and affidavits sustaining their assertion have been forwarded to the committee.

NO STATUTES FOR THE STATE HOUSE.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 29.—A decision was filed in the Supreme Court yesterday sustaining the appeal of James H. H. in his case against the State House Commissioners from creating the eight statues of prominent men in the State House.

MOONLIGHTERS TO BE HANGED.

DUBLIN, March 29.—At the Wicklow assizes yesterday the moonlighters Daniel Hayes and Daniel Moriarty were found guilty of the murder of Patrick Fitzgerald, and were sentenced to be hanged.

DEATH OF A VETERAN.

KINROSS, Ont., March 29.—Colonel John Kilborn died yesterday, aged 94. He fought in the battle of Landy's Lane, where he was taken prisoner and held for some time at Pittsburgh, Mass. He was a member of Parliament in 1828.

A LIBERAL VICTORY.

LONDON, March 29.—Governor Randall Gibson has been elected to the House of Commons by a majority of 600 over the Conservative candidate, after a spirited contest. There is great rejoicing in the Liberal clubs.

The Several Candidates and Committeemen to Meet This Evening.

At the Republican Club Rooms
At 7:30 O'clock Sharp.

The republican city committee requests that all the members of the republican ward committees, and all candidates on the republican ticket, meet with the city committee this evening at the Republican Club Rooms, Leppin's block, at 7:30 sharp. A prompt attendance is desired.

SCHEDULE.

—Ed. O'Connell can now sing "For I am a Happy Man."

—Judge Bennett will reopen the circuit court Monday.

—Corn will be King at the Kenilworth block next Tuesday.

—The date set for the Rectory society corn supper is Tuesday evening of next week.

—Col. Burr Robbins and T. L. Grenier of Chicago, are registered at the Park house.

—James Yates, of the fourth ward, smiles as he announces the fact that he has become a grand-father.

—Bester Monday night will see the revival of the Terpsichorean club dances which were so successful before.

—Miss Stella Matthews, of Broken-ridge, Minn., is visiting her nurse, Miss Olive and Sue Parker, on Prospect avenue.

—J. H. Johnson and Miss Lizzie Droebach, both of Evansville, were married by the Rev. Joseph Wate yesterday afternoon.

—The Schubert male quartette will give a concert in this city April 6th.
They have a noted reputation as first-class artists.

—John Sheridan has been placed on the enliven black-list by Marshal Hogan, the order being signed by Aldermen Judd and Thoroughgood.

—There will be a social and literary entertainment given at the Baptist Sunday school room to-morrow evening by the young people's society.

—Every eye on the switchboard of the local telephone exchange is now filled.
Recent additions are the postoffice and the Kimball Hardware Co.'s store.

—Mrs. James Mills and W. H. Palmer have returned from Chicago where they attended the annual banquet of their alma mater, the Chicago Medical college.

—Mon. J. A. Blount has declined the democratic nomination for supervisor in the third ward, point blank. He refuses to allow his name to be used in any way.

—Changes are to be made soon in the Milwaukee & St. Paul time-card so that the morning trains to Madison, Milwaukee and Rockford will leave earlier than ever.

—To-day the Ancient Order of Hibernians were installed in their new quarters —the old Irish armory. Those wishing to rent the hall for dances or entertainments should apply to Mr. Thomas Maddon.

—Another of their monthly suppers was served by the ladies of All Souls church last evening. The suppers are held in high esteem by all who have ever partaken and that of last night was well patronized.

—By the middle of next month the book of views entitled "Picturesque Janesville" now being made up by George W. Wise will be put on the market. Its appearance is being awaited with much interest.

—Mr. Chester Bailey's home on Race street was filled with jolly last evening by a visit from the young people of the First M. E. church. It was a social given by the Y. P. C. E. society, and a very pleasant one it proved to be.

—The first patient to receive surgical treatment in the city hospital was Mrs.
Peter Johnson. Mrs. Johnson came almost twenty miles from her home in the extreme southwestern part of the county to have a tumor removed by Dr. Henry Palmer. The operation was performed at this hospital last Wednesday.

—Music, recitations and other exercises of an interesting nature will make up the programme at the Ouleonian social in Post Hall this evening. At the close there will be a dance, Smith's orchestra furnishing the music. The social will be thoroughly enjoyable in every way.

—Mr. C. E. Brown, the popular East Milwaukee grocer, has recently bought out his partner, Mr. W. E. Brace, and is now engaged in business alone.
His store is well filled with a choice stock of staple and fancy groceries and his prices are as low as any house in the city. Call and examine his stock and get prices before buying.

—Six voters who attended the republican caucus in the second ward on Tuesday evening and were challenged, declaring themselves to be republicans, were present and voted at the democratic caucus last evening. Of course, they are democrats, and are known as such, and only succeeded in voting at the republican caucus by lying in their votes.
Their names are now on the list.

—Republicans are reminded that they have selected able and competent men for the several ward and city offices, and it is their duty as members of the party to stand up shoulder to shoulder and see that every one is elected. The democratic campaigners and ringleaders are at work, and will take advantage of every means in their power to gain victory.
Therefore, in the language of our opponents, "Arise ye" republicans, (face the music, keep time, and march to sur-victory.

—The democrats of the second ward had a lively time of it at their caucus last night. The contest centered on alderman, their being two principal candidates—J. H. Dunn and John M. Bauman.
The caucus managers did some very fine work, however, and the scene closed with them in the lead some three or four votes. Of course they will make it appear all straight to the rank and file, because, you know, the democrats never

"set up pins" before hand to forestall the action of a caucus.

—Marshal Hogan's statement that only twenty tramps have been committed from the Janesville courts since January 1st has stirred up the Balot Free Press.
The Free Press insists that instead of twenty the number should have been 270. Marshal Hogan sticks to his original assertion, however, and shows the court records to back him up. As to the tramps who are put in at night and turned out the next morning, he says, the number for which the Janesville police have been responsible is thirty-four. Fifty-four out of a total of 350 is a small percentage all things considered, and the wait of the Free Press regarding Janesville policemen will receive very little attention.

NEW TELEPHONE LINES.

Additions To Be Made For Janesville's Benefit.

T. D. Stone, of the Wisconsin Telephone Company, has been in the city for a day or two past. He was sent out to decide whether or not the Janesville office was in need of new toll lines.

To-day Mr. Stone is in Monroe. It is probable that if everything is satisfactory, one of the new lines put in will be between Monroe and this city, perhaps with an extension to Mineral Point. The other will be between this city and Evansville.

Janesville's toll lines already pay from sixty to seventy dollars a month.
With the proposed extension there would be a corresponding increase in the receipts.

One thing that is needed almost as much in new lines, however, is better communication with Milwaukee. At present the line goes by a very round-about course. A conversation of any length is impossible until after six o'clock, when the night operator at Milwaukee clears her throat and talks pike-pole English over six wires at once with startling effect. Mr. Stone is of the opinion that before the summer is over Janesville and Milwaukee will be connected by a direct line.

CONFIRMATION.

On Tuesday last thirty-one ecclesiastics were confirmed at St. Paul's E.
Lutheran church, viz:

Ida Buga, Wilhelm Bauman,
M. Lehman, Otto Mann,
H. Schaller, Wilb. Gramke,
M. Abernethy, Otto Baego,
B. Brinckman, Frederick Wollin,
B. Lempe, Maria Buga,
Anna Buga, I. Friemue,
L. Letzt, M. Schumacher,
A. Boede, J. Geogel,
Sophie Buga, D. Kaiser,
Richard Benzow, A. Mueller, Wilhelm Zanzow, N. Nickel, Edw. Litasko, F. Wollin,
Albert Dink, M. Theilo,
Albert Storm, D. Flecka, Ferdinand Schwaika.

These children have been for the last six months under special religious training by their pastor. After having attended the parochial school for a number of years they have a knowledge of the fundamental doctrines of their church, and are thus permitted to partake of the Holy Communion.

The Lutheran church of the United States and Canada employs one agency in its work which the other denominations lack. These are the parochial schools. They are established for a twofold reason, namely, to afford the youth of the church; an opportunity of being instructed in the doctrine of the church; and secondly (the preservation of the mother-tongue of the parents in church and family. The first is the stronger and controlling reason, the second is subordinate to the former. It would be as unjust to say that these schools are established in opposition to the public schools. They are established rather to supplement these schools, and to furnish instruction which in the nature of the case cannot be given in the public schools. The Lutheran church as is found elsewhere. The Lutherans recognize that the state as such must provide for the education of the youth, in order to make them intelligent and useful citizens. But they are also aware of the fact that as the church is entirely separated from the state, the state cannot in the nature of the case, make provisions for the religious education of the children.
To provide this is the prime object of the parochial school. The language question in these schools is subordinate to the religious question. It is not because these people do not want to be children; instructed in the mother tongue.
Indeed these people find in America's religious liberty a boon that they thoroughly appreciate. A man's religious language need not be English in order to be a good American.

A LUTHERAN.

FUNERAL OF MRS. WELSH.

Mrs. John Welsh, whose funeral was held in St. Patrick's church yesterday was born in Gravesville, county Galway, Ireland, May 27th, 1835. Her maiden name was Mary Coster. When a young girl she came to America with her family, who settled in New England. She was married at Norwalk, Connecticut, April 1, 1853. Two weeks later she arrived in Janesville, where she has since made her home.

Besides her husband she leaves two children—Thomas E. Welsh and Miss Julia A. Welsh, teacher of the first grammar department in the third ward.

The floral tributes at the funeral were numerous and beautiful, and were especially noticeable for the simplicity of design and the beauty of the flowers used, which were nearly all choice roses. A handsome cross and a large bouquet, both of roses, were sent by Miss Welsh's pupils in the first grammar, most of whom attended the funeral. Another large cross, also of roses, was the tribute of the teachers of the High school building.

The pall bearers at the services were William Cor, John Nelson, Sr., W. L.
Dennison, Thomas Hayes, John Eines and Patrick Gagen.

Rail.

On the late string to D. Conger's real estate office, which now hangs out in the postoffice block. See him for bargains in houses, lots, farms, and western lands, before you buy. Large list for sale and exchange. Also money to loan.

concluded, it adjourned.

FAIRFIELD.

—Miss Cora Rooker is slowly recovering from a severe illness.

—O. J. Surt has returned from California, where he has been spending the winter.

—G. S. Waterman is continually adding to his stock of staple and fancy groceries, and is now opening up a new line of spring dress goods.

—There appears to be less excitement than usual this spring as regards township matters, which indicate a general satisfaction with the present town officials, and no one can serve the town more faithfully, we suggest that they be re-elected.

—All who are interested in farm machinery should call on A. D. Clark and examine the new Outaway Disk harrow, which is a decided improvement over the common Disk, as it does not leave the ground in ridges, runs lighter and secures deeper tillage.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 35 degrees above zero. Clear with southwest wind.

At one o'clock p. m. the register was 40 degrees above zero. Partly cloudy with west wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 1 and 35 degrees above zero.

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

A New Officer Appointed By the Sunday School Association.

The Rock Co. Sunday School Association at Clinton adjourned last evening after two days of continuous interest and delightful fellowship. From the very first the moments were fully occupied and the time too short for the consideration of subjects presented. Another day was needed for the completion of programs and business. The society was fairly represented and a new impetus given to those who attended to enter the great work of teaching the scriptures with renewed energy to those entrusted to our care.

Among the most important measures adopted was the creating of a new officer, which has long been needed and will doubtless be of inestimable value. A general superintendent of the county, whose duty especially will be to visit and aid feeble schools and establish new ones in outlying districts, where there are none, with power to appoint assistants and proceed to plant Sunday schools until the land is possessed
